Unoaked blend of the best parcels of Grenache. Notably savoury/vegy nose. Thick and sweet. Already approachable with the aromas of particularly ripe fruit and some pretty forceful tannin on the end. I'd definitely rather have two and a bit bottles of the Ribes du Vallat red than one of this. Seems like deliberately 'segmented' pricing to me. But perhaps someone will let me taste it in 10 years' time and make me eat my words?! I wonder why it is a Vin de France and not a Ventoux?
